CORE and NLS Instructors of New Zealand

CORE Instructors of New Zealand (CINZ) is an affiliated society of the New Zealand Resuscitation Council. It is the organisation for instructors certified by the NZ Resuscitation Council. Through CINZ, resuscitation instructors are represented on the Council.

Aims of CINZ

- To promote excellence within the structure and delivery of the CORE and NLS Frameworks.
- To represent the views of members on matters relating to CORE and NLS and resuscitation education.
- To share information about research opportunities, job opportunities and conferences in the area of resuscitation.
- To provide a forum for discussion and advising the council on modifications to the CORE Framework.
- To provide educational support and resource information for providers of CORE and NLS courses.
- To organise conferences and an annual meeting (to be held in conjunction with the NZ Resus Conference) that offers workshops related to CORE and NLS delivery.
- To provide a "mentor pool" that can be used to support instructors.
- To undertake any other activities relevant to resuscitation in New Zealand.

The NZ Resuscitation Council looks to CORE and NLS certified instructors to maintain a high-quality standard of teaching and assessment, coupled with a commitment to CORE that reflects the value that we place on resuscitation education.

Membership

Current CORE or NLS instructors are members of CINZ, and current Emergency Care Instructors have a CINZ Affiliate membership.

A CINZ member may only deliver New Zealand Resuscitation Council courses for which they have been approved by the Council. For example, a CORE instructor is not automatically entitled to deliver a Newborn Life Support (NLS) course.

Requirements

To maintain a current CORE and NLS instructor status, you must maintain the requirements set by the council
